Recognizing Students' Outstanding Achievements

In 2003, during the SARS epidemic, Dr. Tse Yuen Man, an alumna of our school who graduated in 1986, bravely sacrificed her life while saving patients. To continue Dr. Tse's selfless spirit and dedication to others, the Tung Wah Group of Hospitals, our school, and the Hong Kong Chest and Lung Foundation have established various scholarships.

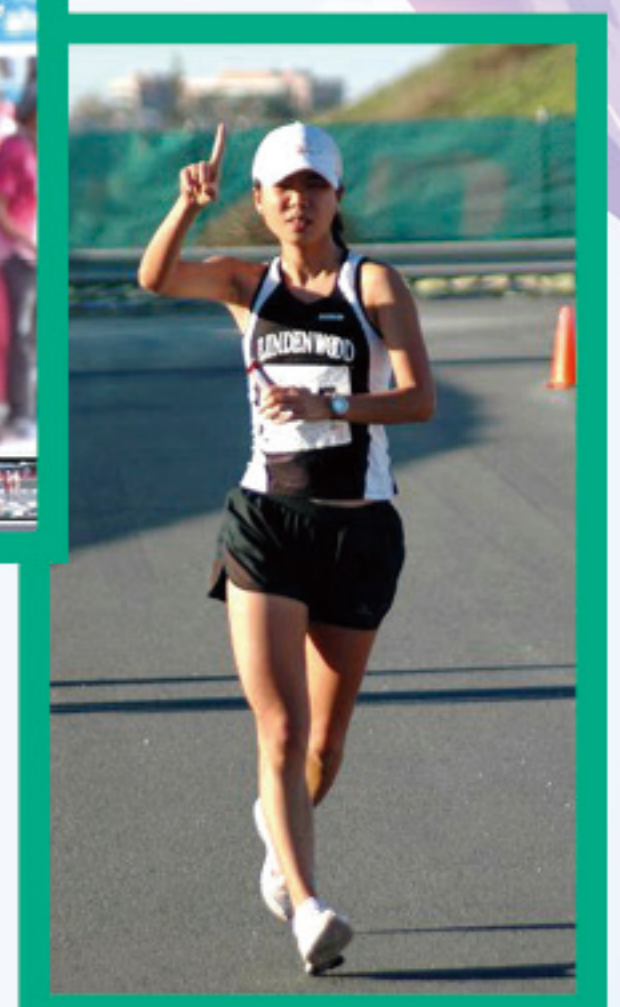

In 2022, a Form 6 graduate of our school, Cheng Hoi Yiu, received the TWGHs SF(MNT) Fund Scholarship, amounting to HK$100,000, to pursue a Bachelor of Nursing (Honours) degree program.

The Tung Wah Group of Hospitals offers multiple scholarships to students to recognize and commend those who have excelled in various fields. Our school actively seeks resources to foster students' academic and character development, assisting them in achieving excellence. Scholarships are provided based on academic performance, extracurricular activities, moral character, and family circumstances. Additionally, we help students apply for various external scholarships, enabling them to fully develop their potential and excel in their areas of strength, thereby enriching their knowledge and achieving fruitful results.

Ching Siu Nga: Hong Kong's Racewalking Olympic Representative and Record Holder

Ching Siu Nga, our alumna who graduated from WYY in 2008, is a remarkable athlete. Ching has achieved extraordinary feats in the realm of walk racing while humbly representing Hong Kong on the global stage, including the prestigious Olympic Games. What makes her story even more fascinating is the fact that she wasn't always a sports prodigy from a young age. In fact, her entry into the world of competitive racewalking was fueled by curiosity and a simple desire to try something new.

Over time, Ching Siu Nga sought professional training and guidance, dedicating herself to the discipline of racewalking. Her relentless efforts and unwavering determination gradually elevated her athletic prowess. Her story exemplifies the power of dedication — an incredible transformation from a curious novice to a Hong Kong elite athlete.
